EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Dr. Donald K. Drummond on July 8, 2008.

The application has been amended as follows:

In the claims:

Claim 11, line 1, delete "11" and insert --2--

Reasons for Allowance

2. The application has been amended as follows: The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The instant claims are novel and unobvious over the prior art of record. The novelty of the process is the acidification of the alkaline wastewater to extract nitroresols therefrom and then add the nitroresols extracted from the alkaline wastewater as feedstock in the preparation of the dinitrotoluene.

The closest prior art is Munnig et al. (US 6,936,741) mixes all water washes, acidic and alkaline waste waters from the mononitrotoluene (MNT) preparation stage and the dinitrotoluene (DNT) reaction stage. After combining the waste streams the organic phase is allowed to settle out. The organic phase consists of MNT, DNT, and nitration by-products (predominantly nitroresols, picric acid and nitrobenzoic acids). (see column 4 lines 32-67). Further, additional MNT is added to aid in the separation of the phases. After phase separation, the heavier phase, organic phase; predominantly MNT, DNT, nitrocresols, picric acid, nitrobenzoic acid; are recycled back in to the nitration process. Munnig does not separate the nitrocresols from the organic phase and use the nitrocresols exclusively for the production of the DNT.

Art Unit: 1621

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
